Dear Sir:

The copy of "Larizza" has just been received by us. For some reason which I am unable to fathom, this was not sent by parcel post, in consequence of which we had to pay charges of $1.75 in order to have it delivered to us. I should be glad to have you tell me why it was necessary to send it other than by post. As you will see, the payment of such charges are detrimental to any further business, and as this condition has arisen with previous consignments from Italy, I am interested in learning the cause. Your bill is being forwarded for payment to our bank and you should receive a draft to cover within the course of a few days.

Very truly yours,

Secretary.

with reply to your letter of march 31 I am sorry that you paid $ 1.75 for the parcel-post sending containing the book of Larizza, La Magna Grecia.

The book has been delivered to the post-office fo Rome as usual post-parcel the 19th February and we send you enclosed the original-receipt from the post-office.

Perhaps your reclam at your delivered in New-York may explain
the matter of fact.

Enclosed you will find receipt of your payment april 2 1930.

Always to your orders,

very trouly yours

Herbert Bittner
